LET'S CO-EXIST

A group of artists and natural lovers, joined hands together to promote sustainable tourism.

Our Community

---

We are a group of naturalists trying to create programs for the purpose of getting people reconnected to nature. We organise expeditions, trekking Forest Bathing, Nature healing workshops and other offerings that engage participants in some of the human activities including wildlife tracking/trailing, tribal way of living, practicing wilderness survival skills.

Our programs involves close interaction with Mother Nature. There are cultural components to our offerings to ensure a well-rounded experience. Participants get an opportunity to sit back relax and enjoy by having a deep connection with nature.

VISION

Local Culture

India is known for its cultural diversity through out world. Indian culture is one of the oldest and unique. The South, North, and Northeast have their own distinct cultures and almost every state has carved its own cultural niche. If compared, there is hardly any culture in the world that is as varied and unique as India's.

India is a vast country with a variety of geographical features and climatic conditions. India, a place of infinite variety, is fascinating with its ancient and complex culture, dazzling contrasts and breath-taking physical beauty. India is considered to be the home to 398 languages. Every village in India has a unique traditions or festivals of their on.

We would like to help and preserve those cultures and make our guest understand and respect them.

Lets coexist

Coexisting

Being connected to natural surroundings is vital to good mental and even physical health. In the Netherlands, Italy, Germany, Belgium and Slovenia patients with depression are prescribed agricultural work. Country walks reduce depression.

Modern stresses make us lose sight of what is truly important to us. When you feel harmonious with nature you regain vision and perspective on your own life. You see where you truly 'fit' in the great scheme of things and can gain insight into what really needs to be done in your life - as part of the greater whole.

Coexisting with nature help us understand the importance of preserving it. It would increase our love and compassion for every plants and animals, we would be more aware of every beings role in keeping earth a better place to be.

Sustainable Architecture

sustainable architecture

- Overall focus on reducing human impact on the environment
- Minimal wasteful, harmful energy consumption, and use of renewable energy sources, such as solar panels and natural heating, cooling, and ventilation systems
- Water conservation systems, such as rainwater collection and recycling gray water
- Integration into the surrounding landscape
- Use of renewable materials, such as bamboo, hemp, wood, steel, straw etc
- Replacement of conventional materials like concrete with sustainable alternatives
- Use of recycled and upcycled materials
- Adaptable, modular spaces made from natural materials that can be easily broken down and repurposed or recycled
- Tiny houses, micro apartments, and other small structures that help address the appetite for more sustainable housing and use less land mass and energy
- Incorporation of plants and nature via living walls, tree-covered residential towers, and green roofs to help cool existing buildings and create healthy biophilic environments for humans.

our message

Governments, industrialists and every person must do their bit. The air, water and soil of the earth are polluted. Forests are vanishing. Life on land as well as the seas are facing extinction. Grasslands and Forests are turning into scorching deserts. All these are vital symptoms that show that earth is unwell. We can restore the earth to its healthy state again if we respect and preserve its metabolic needs. We have to preserve wildlife, forests, seas and grasslands.

Sustainable development means meeting the needs of the present without stripping the natural resources that future generations would need. We may meet our needs without depriving the future generations of the resources that they would need. Besides this we have now realized that we share this planet with millions of other species. Our position is not that of domination, but of partnership, let's coexist.
